

Designer Widgets

If you were to design a CO2 widget, what would it look like? Would you want to create a designer widget for anyone to use? Or, something unique for your own use and distribution?

Are you more interested in commissioning a custom widget that fits your personality, your corporate identify and brand, or your own sustainability messaging? Are you a teacher looking to challenge art of communications students with design work that shares something important to a real-world audience? Perhaps you are a graphic designer or an IT person looking for new projects and new clients?

The widgets available at this site are growing in number and design options. It is impossible to know where all the widgets and widget designs will end up. You are welcome to determine how CO2 widgets are designed and used. Go ahead, jump in with your widget request, idea or offer. Email us at widget\_help@co2now.org. Whether you are thinking 'personal scale' or 'institutional scale,' all expressions of interest are welcome.
