

CO2 Widget - Nano 60

CO2 widgets don't get much smaller than this. We call it the "Nano 60" because it is just 60 pixels wide and 60 pixels high.

This little wonder lets you add the latest data for atmospheric CO2 to the tightest spots on your website or blog. Place it discretely on one of your pages, or plaster it everywhere. You decide.

It is easy to display the "Nano 60" widget to a website. Simple instructions and html code are provided below.

Nano 60 from CO2Now.org
